

Furnace

I took this photo with a Duracell camera when going out to finish my STLP homework. It is an old run down cannonball furnace used during the war to make cannonballs for soldiers. To get the angle, I bent down, took many photos and found the perfect one.